WASHINGTON, May 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Dr. Norvin Green, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, appeared today before the House Committee on Postoffices, to present some facts upon the subject of the telegraphic system of the country. He addressed himself to the Hop-kins Bill to establish a postal telegraph. Such an enactment would be, he said, a monstrous wrong. If the Government conmonstrous wrong. If the Government con-templated the telegraph business, was there any proper way to do but to take the exist-ing property and pay for it. These remarks, he said, were not made with a view to seli-ing Western Union to the Government. The Government did not need a telegraph. It would not benefit the Government. West-ern Union did not want to sell, but its pur-chase was the only proper basis on which the Government could go into the telegraph business. It should take all the existing properties, and do the business exclusively.

FIFTIETH CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), May 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Senate.—After the transaction of routine business the Senate went into executive session, this being the first secret session for several days. The accumulation of nominations by the President, among them that of Mr. Fuller to be Chief Justice, were referred to committees, and a number of reports, mostly upon post-masters, were made by committees.

After the doors were reopened the Senate resumed consideration of the Railroad Land Grant Forfeiture Bill. After much discussion over certain amendments regarding the rights of the Portage, Lake and Canal Company the amendments went over till tomorrow with the understanding that a final vote on the bill be had then, The Senate then resumed consideration of the bill for the establishment of a bureau of animal industry.

Mr. Paddock made a speech in support of it, defending it both on constitutional and economic grounds. The bill was then temporarily laid aside. The Senate then proceeded to the passage of pension bills on the calendar. The whole number of bills passed (in 65 minutes) was 105, 42 of them being House bills. Several of them were for volunteer nurses at the rate of $25 per month and one was for the widow of Gen. Charles P. Stoke for (House bill) $50.

House.—The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Tariff Bill.

Mr. Wilson of Minuesota denounced the protective system. He was opposed to the present tariff, because, while it enriched a few, it prevented the expansion of our industries, and because it was especially unjust to the agricultural interests. The important question presented now was whether the wealthy classes shall be allowed to levy tribute upon the industrial classes.

Mr. McComas of Maryland said that Cleveland's message and this foundling, now called the Mills Bill, had a common purpose. Both used the surplus as the fulcrum wherevith to apply the freetrade lever to dislodge the protective systems.

Mr. Lanham of Texas said that, in view of the conditions which surrounded Con-gress, and in view of the intrepid stand taken by the President, he could not see how any Democrat could afford to antagon-ize the general proposition for reducing taxation.

low any Democrat could allow to shtatgoin ize the general proposition for reducing taxation.

Mr. Allen of Massachusetts spoke at length in favor of the protective policy.

Mr. Caruth of Kentucky characterized the protective tariff as a most insidious enemy. It walked in silence and under cover, and while it pretended to be giving the country protection, it was in reality stealing its substance and destroying its life. In conclusion he replied to Mr. Kelley's criticism upon Kentucky, and paid an eloquent tribute to that State.

The committee then rose.

The Senate bill was passed to establish an additional land district in Oregon.

Then the House took a recess until 8 o'clock.

There were but half a dozen members present at the evening session of the House.

Mr. Stewart of Georgia spoke against protection and Mr. Davis of Massachusetts in favor of it.

THE CHINESE TREATY.
In secret session today Senator Sherman reported back the Chinese treaty from the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations with the recommendations of the committee that it be ratified. The committee has two minor amendment—one providing that the prohibitional features of the treaty shall apply to those who are now absent from the country, regardless of any certificates they may hold; the other requires that Chinese be privileged to return upon presenting certificates issued subsequent to the present time. Mr. Sherman asked that the treaty be taken up today, but objection was made and it went over.

Second Day of the General Confernere at New York.

Bishop Merrill read the address of the bishops extending to the delegates. of the bishops extending to the delegates episcopal greeting and blessing. The address reviewed the revival work that had been going on in the church since the last conference four years ago. Since then not less than 450,000 souls have been brought into the church, and the membership has increased from 1,769,534 to 2,093,935. The Roman Church, the address says, makes it imperative that members of the Methodist Church should work to convert Methodist Church should work to convert them. The bishops are of the opinion that the Church of Rome is a snare to the people and threatens our institutions. The struggle between capital and labor is referred to in the address, and it was denied that the church had any right to take part in political struggles, or had taken part in them. It was advised that steps should be taken to adopt some regular order of worship so that in all churches the form should be the same. The bishops severely criticised the regular Sunday newspapers. The liquor traffle was deprecated and total prohibition advised.

The Committee on Eligibility of Women as Delegates reported that after serious discussion they have become convinced that when the rule was passed relating to the admission of lay delegates to the general conference, the church contemplated the admission of men only. ## POOR DEMOCRATS.

WORK IN THE POLICE COMMIS-SION GIVES THEM AWAY.

A General Falldown for Harmony-They Must Not Fight Until After the Convention-In the Meantime the Law Is a Dead Letter.

The Police Commissioners met in regular session, yesterday afternoon, at the Mayor' office, with the full board present. The saloon licenses which went over from last week were then taken up, the first being that of Barton, at the end of the Temple-street cable, which was accompanied by a numerously-signed protest against it by the property owners of the vicinity. After hearing the statements of both sides the matter went over for antither week.

The next was the pelition of Farrell & Houser for a saloon at 708 Temple street, between Pearl and Beaudry, against which there were three protests. The saloon men also presented a petition asking the board

ÍNSIDE FACTS

The cause of the sudden change in the The cause of the sudden change in the tactics of the commissioners having been foreshadowed in The Thiss Wednesday morning, a reporter was detailed to further investigate the matter, and learn, if possible, just how far the compromise had gone, and what the final result would be. On the surface, it looked like a complete backdown on the part of Mayor Workman and Mr. Humphreys, and a decided victory for the Chief. In other words, that enough pressure had been brought to bear on these gentlemen, and that the party lash had been applied with such effect as to force them into the leading-strings once more. A leading Democrat, who has been watching this whole thing very closely, was first seen by the reporter. He said he did not care to talk on the matter, but when told that it was said that Mayor Workman and Mr. Humphreys had fallen down on their proposition and had given in to the bosses, he said: "I will take the trouble to deny any such foolish reports, on behalf of these gentlemen, as it is a great injustice to suspect them even of such a course, in view of their repeated declarations. They are men of honor, and I am satisfied that every pledge that they have made to the public will be falthfully carried out. I don't want you to think that I speak by their authority at all. I speak only as a respectable Democrat, and one who knows the gentlemen in question."

"But," suggested the reported, "how do you account for the action of the board to-day in not taking action on certain matters that should have come before it today?" and the reporter explained at length that the predictions in The Tinks of Wednesday had been verified, and that everything pointed to a compromise, as there set forth.

"Of course, I don't know the whys and wherefores of this thing, but you can rest assured that there is some good reason behind all this matter, and if you try hard enough you may find out what it is."

The gentleman very kindly gave the reporter a few points, acting on which it was ascertained as a fact that there had been seve tactics of the commissioners having been foreshadowed in The Times Wednesday until after the meeting of the convention next Saturday, as it might have a bad effect on the "harmony" of that gathering, a thing which must be averted at all hazards. In this view of the case, it is said that all hands agreed to bury the hatchet, until after the convention, when matters will be taken up where they were left off, and pushed to a conclusion one way or the other. These statements, if true, will explain why the meeting of the Police Board was so extraordinarily harmonious. There is no compromise, it is merely an armed truce, as a matter of party expediency, and the two factions are merely resting until the crisis is passed.

MRS. M'DONALD'S STORY. Mrs. Annie McDonald, who preferred charges before the board against Officer Murray of taking $50 from her while she was locked up in the station on a charge of drunkenness, was seen by a TIMES reporter last evening. Mrs. McDonald said she did not care to say much until the charges came up for investigation next Tuesday beyond what she had already made public in her communication to the commissioners. She denied that she was so much drunk as she was sick, and said she remembered distinctly everything that took place. She says that she was arrested and locked up, and while in the cell an officer whom she has since learned was Officer Murray, came to the wicket and asked her if she had $50 to put up for her appearance. She told him that she had and gave him the money, specifying the denominations. He took the money, she says, and she was released. She says further that the officer has refused to return her the money. Mrs. McDonald further said that she was robbed by the police some time ago, and that under Chief. Cuddy's former administration she had been robbed of a diamond ring by an officer, and that when the matter was brought before the authorities the officer's star was taken away from him, and he was dismissed from the force. She further said that as soon as Chief Cuddy was reelected, he put this officer back on the force and supplements this last charge with some very damaging statements about the Chief.

Chief Cuddy was asked about the story, and said that he had heard about it some extent. He said that the woman had made a number of different statements, in every one of which she had given a different amount of money. He said that he had he key that she had been roleased as soon as she was soberenough, and had not required any bail, as Murray of taking $50 from her while she was locked up in the station on a charge of one of which she had given a different amount of money. He said that he had ordered her released as soon as she was sober enough, and had not required any bail, as he knew that she had been housekeeper for a well-known citizen here, and had carried the keys, having them with her that night. He said that she had told him that the officer's name was "Jack," but that she had been unable to identify him. He said that he had done everything possible in the matter, and of course if the woman had been robbed in the manner in which she said she was, the officer should be punished, and doubtless would be.

The case comes up for trial before the commissioners next Tuesday, when some sensational developments are anticipated.

Mrs. Waters Wants Her Husba

Out of the Way.

There was nothing new in the Waters matter yesterday. The wounded man suffered great pain all day at the hespital, but refused to talk, although he claims that his wife has not told the truth about the shooting. He says he learned shortly after his arrival in the city Tuesday tha his wife had threatened to shoot him, and he went to the house for the purpose of having a talk with her, but that he intended to do her no harm. Further than this he will say nothing, and the closest questioning cannot force him to describe how the shooting occurred. # ROMANCE IN LOW LIFE.

Fast Woman Married a Carpenter Against Her Lover's Wishes.

A rather peculiar marriage took place

Tuesday, which came near resulting in a fight, if not a tragedy. A woman who has recently fitted up three houses at the corner of Alameda and Turner streets, tiring of the life she has been leading, concluded to enter the married recently fitted state, a young carpenter having offered to take her as his wife. All the arrangements take her as his wife. All the arrangements were made, and everything was moving along smoothly, when a man with whom the woman had been living previously, arrived in the city. As soon as he learned how matters were shaping, he raised a big row, and demanded that the woman give him everything she had in the way of property. Of course she demurred, and an officer was called in, but a compromise was effected by the woman giving him some of her jewelly, when he allowed the wedding ceremony to proceed without further interruption.

The Hill-Clausen family feud was set tled by lustice Austin yesterday dismissing the defendants, Ham and Nickerson, of the Hill faction. The courtroom was crowded with the friends of the parties and the two families, among whom were several girls. A considerable amount of testimony was offered, much of which was of the most trivial character. In redering his decision, Justice Austin said he was of the opinion that the complaining witness, Mrs. Clausen, was the cause of the trouble, and that, while he would not assess the costs of the sults against her this time, if costs of the suits against her this time, it she ever came into court on a similar matter, he would certainly do so. This is the second or third time that these families have been before the court, and the Justice's patience has become exhausted.

After Lots.

A complaint was filed yesterday by Laura Weyse, in a suit instituted against G. C. Hopkins and J. Millner. On the 27th of March, 1888, O. G. Weyse made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors to the ment for the benefit of his creditors to the defendants, who are the assignors of the debtor. Certain lots on College street were conveyed, which plaintiff asserts belong to her in her own right, and she asks that the defendants be required to reconvey to plaintiff, by a proper instrument of conveyance, the lots in question.

A Big Joss Man.
A Chinaman was run over by a hack at the corner of Alameda and Manchester streets, Tuesday night about 9 o'clock, inflicting severe injuries, among which were a broken arm, a crushed leg and an ugly cut on the head. The heathen was one of the priests in the Joss House, and was conveyed to his room, where medical aid was summoned. The heakman did not stop, and it is not known what his number was.

Why Chief Cuddy Fooled Reporters Queer Testimony Given in the Superior Court Yesterday - Thieves Against Officers - How Thieves

Caines was formerly in the employ of Lucas's Pacific Coast Detective Agency, and is the alleged partner of Webb, whose trial on the 27th of April resulted in a failure on the part of the jury to agrees say being for conviction, and six to agree, six being for conviction and six for acquittal.

The people were represented by Assistant District Attorney Harrison and the prisoner by W. T. Williams and F. McGregor.

by w. T. Williams and F. McGregor.

The first witness put upon the stand was Chief of Police Cuddy, whose testimony was to a great extent a mere recapitalistion of that given at the previous trial of Webb. Upon being asked by counsel for the defense if he had not mentioned to a local reporter, on the morning after the burglary, that the man who had escaped had been wounded by him, Chief Cuddy stated "that newspaper reporters nearly annoy us to newspaper reporters nearly annoy us to death, so that it is necessary to give them some kind of a story or other, although in that instance I did not stretch it quite so heard?

that instance I did not stretch it quite so broad."

J. C. Wimmer, an employé of Lucas's detective agency, on taking the witness stand, told how Caines had offered him a bribe of $100 to keep away from near Lambourne & Turner's store on a certain night. The festive Caines had from time to time told all the particulars of the proposed burglary to the witness, and imparted to him the information that he had all the tools needed but one. Webb was sent in to buy potatoes, in order to examine the premises. They took a rope along with them, and Caines said it was to tie any s- of — that might be found on the place. Wimmer told Marsh and the Chief of Police what he knew.

witness stated that he was still in the employ of Lucas; had been a policeman in Kansas City, from whence he came to Los Angeles last August; had noticed Marsh at Lucas's office frequently, but did not know whether he was in his employ or not. He never mentioned the projected burglary to Lucas, and did not know if Lucas owed Caines $305 or not.

The only witness put forward by the defense whose evidence was of great interest was the English burglar, Elon, at present awaiting his own trial in the County Jall. At different times he has made allecations against Lucas, and yesterday he was put forward to sustain the defense set up of conspiracy on the part of Lucas and Marsh to ruin the character and reputation of Caines, for the purpose of serving their own ends. The witness, who does not look to be more than 18 years of age, and is rather simple in appearance, belied his looks, for he answered with a certain amount of shrewdness that preved him to be no fool.

While under cross-examination he stated:
"I was in jail at Stockton, but it was in consequence of a job put up against me by Lucas. Ever since I had him arrested in San Francisco, and the detectives there drove him from that city, he has played the part of a snake in the grass, and tried his best to put me in the hole again. I didn't come down here to go into his employ, but to better myself, but he met me and told me he had plenty of work for me, and could use me in two ways, for which I would receive good pay. The charge against me in Stockton was stealing some harness. I was working at a hotel at Lathrop, and had succeeded in gaining the confidence of my employer, when Lucas wrote, telling him that I was a thief and everything that was bad, and so when the harness was missed I was the one suspected, and on the strength of the same While under cross-examination he stated:

Witness: I don't wish you to say that. I am doing nothing of the kind.

District Attorney: I do not wish to argue or have any words with you, sir.

Witness: And I don't wish you to say that I am using Lucas to shield myself.

Several witnesses followed Elton who testified to the good character he bore while in the town of Paris, Canada, where he held the position of Chief of Police, and upon the conclusion of that part of the testimony the case was continued till this morning at 9 o'clock.

AZUSA WATER TUOUBLES.

The Fighting Constable Goes Before a Jury and is Acquitted. In Department No. 1 of the Superior Court yesterday, before Judge Chency, the case of Marion Miller, charged with an as sault with a deadly weapon, came up for trial The alleged assault was committed at Azusa where the defendant filled the office constable, and resulted from a quarrel over the water troubles that agitated the Azusa community some little time ago. Miller was in a saloon when a party of men came in and began to upbraid him for not placing a certain man whom they named under arrest that day. The complaining witness in the present case, a man named I. P. Hanes took a prominent part in the discussion, and finally the crowd closed in upon Miller, and he thinking his life in probable danger drew his pistol, but did not fire. The party thereupon withdrew from the saloon and Hanes went out and swore, to a complaint in which he preferred the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. On coming before the local Justice the case was dismissed, but, not content, another complaint was sworn to and upon that one Miller was held to answer the charge. The case having been submitted to the jury without argument, the jury retired and in a short time returned into court with a verdict of "not guilty." in and began to upbraid him for not placing

Another Jim-crow Concern Closes Its Doors.

Even in the good old days of stockgambling in San Francisco, when everybody from servant-girls to bankers had money, thieves and "smoothies" were not so numerous as they now are in Los Anso numerous as they now are in Los Angeles. Smooth cattle were numerous in the Bay City in those days, and they did some good work, but many of them had heard of the Coleman Vigilance Committee, and they knew that quite a number of the old 101 still lingered with mother earth, and this fact kept them within bounds to a certain extent. But poor Los Angeles has no vigilance committee skeleton with which to frighten blacklegs and smoothies. She is completely at the mercy of these scoundrels, and honest people have to suffer the consequences. Hardly a day passes that the work of these thieves in gentlemen's clothing is not brought to the surface. Victims pop up and in a sad, shame-faced tone of voice tell how they have been done up by some rascal. A very suspicious-looking case came to the surface yesterday. A number of business men, and almost every dude and dudine in the city, knew F. so numerous as they now are in Los An-

F. Muller, either personally or by sight. He is a young man who wore rosy cheeks, a plug hat, clothing of the last style, and a gall that could not be surpassed by the best drummer on the road. He first set foot in Los Angeles some months ago, and connected himself with the slippery gentleman of colorabr. G. Hamilton Griffin. Griffin was swindling people right and left at that time, and Muller was about the most frisky clerk in the Doctor's den. When the gentleman of African descent went to the wall Muller left him and embarked in the employment business. He was joined by a man of his own stripe named W. S. Taggert. They worked ap quite a little business, and seemed to be getting along nicely, when they got it into their heads that they wanted to sell out. They soon found a stranger named H. Blankets, who had more money than business sense, and induced him to take a one-third interest. The money was divided up between the two youngsters, and Muller stated that important business called him out of the city. He had not traveled many miles, when Taggert followed, and the stranger thought he had discovered a small-sized "mice," and from latest accounts he is of the same opinion still. The excuse made by the young men for not wishing to sell the whole business was because they considered it the best-paying institution in the city. Blankets closed up the shop yesterday, and is a wiser man than he was a few weeks ago. The friends of Muller and Taggert say that the young men are all right, and will return in a few days. F. Careless Railroad Men Leave a Wild

Car on the Track.

There came near being a very serious railroad wreck 22 miles east of Barstow at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. It seems that a freight car had been left loose on the side track, and it backed down on the main track. It was run into by the west-bound overland train, which was making only about 25 miles an nour. The engineer was thrown through the window of his cab and was picked up for dead. The wild car was was picked up tor dead. The wild car was knocked 30 or 40 feet from the track and the engine was somewhat damaged, but no one except the engineer was injured. He came around in about 45 minutes and was placed in a Pullman and brought to this

The programme for the entertainment of delegates and visitors to the Democratic State Convention has been prepared by the Committee on Arrangements. Arrangements have been made for transport, and the order will be somewhat as follows: The convention will last for three days, without night sessions. On May 15th the delegates will assemble and business be confined to the perfecting of the organization. An excursion to Santa Monica will, in all probability, be made in the afternoon. On the 16th, at the close of the session, at 1 o'clock, the delegates in a body will visit Pasadena and Monrovia, and over the San Gabriel Valley. Upon the third day business will be strictly adhered to.

The Democratic Congressional Convention of the Sixth District will be held on one of the three days, and Congressional candidates nominated. State Senator L. J. Rose is at present the most prominent can-Committee on Arrangements. Arrange

The Butti Brute.
Butti, the man charged with incest with his 8-year-old daughter, spent yesterday in the City Prison, and late in the afternoon a complaint was sworn to charging him with his beastly crime. The man denies his guilt, of course, but Dr. Kannon, who treated the child, says that she was suffering from the disease at the same time that the father was affected. Both the mother and the child say that the charge is true, and the mother says that the reason she said nothing about it before was because she wished to hide the disgrace, if possible, as she had seen trouble enough, and did not want people to know that her husband had sunk so low as to misuse his own child. The case will probably come up today for preliminary hearing. complaint was sworn to charging him with

He ordered that the cause be continued for the session and that the note on which the alleged forgery occurs be kept in the safe of the County Clerk until then. "Not Smallpox"
An attack was yesterday made upon M. J. Walsh in front of the Pico House by a young man who had evidently been discharged from the hospital after a severe attack of varioloid. Stepping up to Walsh he asked: "Who said I had the smallpox?" and as he finished the sentence he drew a large knife and made a lunge at Walsh, cutting his clothing on the breast. Finally Walsh picked up a rock and knocked his assailant down. He was then removed to the Sheriff's office, but as Walsh did not appear to prosecute he was allowed to go. "Not Smallpox"

For $8000. A suit has been commenced by G. Storch against F. F. McCain and H. B. Treat. The defendant McCain gave his promissory note for $8000, and to secure payment gave a mortgage on certain property on the Rancho Santa Gertrudas in this county. H. B. Treat puts forward a claim adverse to the plantiff's interest in the mortgaged lands, and he has consequently been made a party to the suit. The court is asked that the mortgage be forcelosed and the lands sold, the proceeds to be applied to liquidating the debt.

He Is to Go to South America, but Only Gets as Far as San Fran-cisco-His Return to the Home of His Choice Gives Trouble secret that everything was not running smoothly in the household of Fred Linde, the well-known jeweler. Mr. Linde has been a resident of this city for a number of years, during which time he has built up a flourishing business and amassed quite a comfortable little fortune, being worth somewhere in the neighborhood of $50,000, and the only drawback to his continued presperity was his weakness for drink. This failing got him into no end of trouble. It was no uncom mon thing for Mr. Linde to get on a "spree" of a week or 10 days' duration, during of a week or 10 days' duration, during which time he would absent himself from home, and, for several days at a time, would disappear as completely as if the earth had opened and swallowed him up, and mcre than once the police have been called in to aid in the search for him. When drinking, Mr. Linde had no idea of the value of money, and it is said that he has frequently spent as much as $1000 in the course of a week. He was generous to a fault, and would give away anything he had, if any one to whom he took a fancy asked him for it. Of course this sort of thing could not go on always, and his wife, after repeated remonstrances with her "worser hail?" to reform, finally took measures for her protection, and they agreed to disagree—that is to separate. Linde turned over his business to his wife, and she gave him $500 on his agreeing to go to South America. As soon as Linde got his coin he left theselty, his wife took possession of the store, and everything was thought to have been settled. And it would have been if Linde had carried out his part of the agreement. This, however, he failed to do. Instead of going to South America he stopped in San Francisco, where he proceeded to finish up his spree. When his money began to run out he began to regret his bargain, and the upshot of the matter was that he boarded the train for Los Angeles, where he arrived a day or two ago. He at once commenced trying to get possession of his business again, but his wife could not see it in that light, and refused to give tup. Mrs. Linde has taken the preliminary steps in divorce proceedings, and the papers will be filed in a day or two. In the meantime she remains in possession of the property. which time he would absent himself from

From consumers, "to waste away," usually applied to the advanced stage of lung disease. The following are prominent symptoms in the first stage, and wherever any of them exist a thorough examination should be made, with a view to arresting the disease as shown to exist. There is usually a sense of weariness upon a little exercise, a disposition to remain passive and idle, despondency, often from no apparent cause. a peculiar sensitiveness to the effect of cold, and a breathessness upon moving quickly, or descending a hill or stairs, a slight hacking cough, with or without expectoration, excitability upon slight occasions, flying pains through the chest or back or under the shoulder-blades. The symptoms are more noticeable toward or during the night, slight fever in the afternoon, oold feet or hands, or, in many cases, blue lividity of the lips and roots of the finger-nails.

Constitutional or tubercular consumption is a common ferm of lung disease. The progress is slow, but if left to itself is no less sure. It usually begins with a dry cough, At first these tubercies are exo-edingly minute, the a common r. rm of inna disease. The progress is slow, but if left to tiself is no less sure. Is usually begins with a dry cough. At first these tubercles are exceedingly minute, the patient not at all suspecting their presence. Gradually they develop into more active disease, and then follows the train of symptoms which leaves no doubtas to list true character. Sometimes spitting of bloed or slight streaks in the mucus is the first indication of tubercular deposits, or it may be a chilly sensation in the back, followed by more or less heat in the paims of the hands, or an afternoon flush on the checks. The slow and gradual inroads of this form of consumption leave the stomach and appetite undisturbed for a considerable time. Finally, however, hectic fever and night sweats supervene, preceded by diarrhosa. Then the losse of strength and flesh becomes rapid, the chest contracts, the features sharpen, the eye attains an unusual brilliancy and the patient begins to realize that he is in the last stage of confirmed constitutional consumption.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and whith will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

items 'concerning the attitude the sasumed, or rather resumed, by the Pope concerning political questions, which have caused much controversy of late years in not England and Ireland alone—which countries are most directly interested—but also in the United States.

In fact, the whole civilized world are interested spectators of this constitutional agitation of the Irish to restore to their country that independence which they were by bribery and fraud deprived of in 1800.

In England today the most gigantic intellects are striving to solve this Irish question in such a manner as shall be conducive to the happiness of both countries.

shall be conducive to the happiness of both countries.

Mr. Gladstone is of the opinion that to give the Irish people the right to make their own laws of a local nature would make England a more powerful nation both in peace and war than she now is, with a disaffected people like the Irish, obstructing her legislation in the House of Commons, and ready to at least exuit when any danger threatens her.

at least exult when any danger threatens her.

Mr. Gladstone believes that the Irish people have a right to legally combine and meet and express their disapprobation of the means used to coerce them. But now His Holiness Leo XIII solemnly informs them that he understands better what means to acquire their local independence is legal or not, better than Mr. Gladstone, Mr. John Morley and a host of honest, manly Englishmen who have struggled and are now struggling to help Irishmen to receive a tardy recognition of their rights in and out of Parliament.

It is humiliating to an intelligent Irishmen to thus see their English friends placed in such a position by the attitude of the Pope.

Any Irish Catholic claiming intelligence will, of course, treat with merited contempt this latest effort of the Pope to interfere in the politics of their country.

Of course, if they wish to submit to Pope to interfere in the politics of their country.

Of course, if they wish to submit to his ruling on matters of politics in Ireland, that is their business, and they can wear the yoke, and nobody will particularly care. But civilized mankind, outside of Ireland, cannot be blamed for treating a race with contempt who will allow the Pope to do with them what his own countrymen have rebelled against, and who relegated him to the privacy of the Quirinal, there to meditate on how to properly save souls, and leave political questions to those whose interest it is to look after them.

tions to those whose interest it is to look after them.

It is evident that English intrigue has at last triumphed in Rome. The diamonds—I suppose bought chiefly by the Peter's pence sent by the poor Irish, although starving at the same time—to Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, on the occasion of her golden jubilee, have produced the desired result, in a fulmination against the National League.

Will the Irish submit? That is a question they must by their course soon mation against the National League.

Will the Irish submit? That is a question they must by their course soon answer. The people of America demand an answer. Irish Catholics in America must speak out in no uncertain tones. Irish-American Catholics must place themselves on record. The Catholics of this city must place themselves squarely on the record and say whether it is true or not that their first political allegiance is due the Pope. It is due to themselves that they place themselves right before their fellow-citizens on this most important subject. For if they acknowledge the right of the Pope to interfere in matters purely of a political nature in Ireland, they must acknowledge his right to interfere in matters political in America. This charge has often been made. Now is the time to prove whether it is true or false. It will not do to remain silent. The question is of vast importance to every American citizen, and should be answered. If Catholics concede the right of the Pope to interfere in political in Ireland, can they consistently refuse to be guided politically by him in American political affairs. "There's the rub." If the Catholic priests of Ireland are instructed to deny absolution to a certain class of their countrymen, holding certain ideas deny absolution to a certain class of their countrymen, holding certain ideas on matters political, why not the same authority issue instructions to the authority issue instructions to the Bishop of Los Angeles instructing him to refrain from absolving a certain class who have their views of political matters which they believe to be cor-rect, and which they desire to see car-ried into effect in a perfectly legal manner?

The American people are awaiting the answer to this latest political ukase from the Vatican.
The Catholics of Los Angeles should be heard from, and their verdict given as to the right of the Pope to dictate to them politically.

A Sewage Canal.
NOTHING LACKING BUT WATER.
LOS ANGELES, May 1.—[To the Editor of The Times.] Several inquiries have been sent to me with a view of still further ventilating the suggested canal and drainage scheme Let Gallagher Go.

Santh Ana, April 29.—[To the Editor of The Times.] Several days ago in preference to an immense system of enclosed sewerage. Now, this being so, is one very conclusive reason in favor of my suggestion. To render harmless the drainage of a big city, subsiding tanks could be formed, as in England, and a vast source of fertilizing matter placed within each of the former, which is now wasted. [As, for instance on the sweet-smelling sewer farm.—ED.] Again, sewage farms are worked with ease and advantage in England, from the drainage of towns. Immense crops of grain and fruit are raised from such farms, whilst the cattle reared and fed on the produce are amongst the healthiest, the beef, etc., from which average the highest prices in the market. [The roast beef of Old England, Yknow.—ED.] These farms are generally managed by town corporations, and afford an easy and safe system of drainage, and in some instances are a source of profit to the corporations. The fall is some 300 feet from Los Augeles to the Pacific, I am told. Few locks will, therefore, be required, and thus the construction would be small, comparatively speaking. The water now wasted in the Los Angeles River, if available at nights only, would be sufficient to fill the canal. Should subsiding tanks for the drainage be used, there would be a considerable amount of clear fluid continually feeding into the canal from the sewerage of the 60,000 citizens of Los Angeles. This fluid, it was demonstrated in England there or four years ago, was harmless; that the sewage farms where cattle were reared and fed were the only cattle that were free from the foot and mount disease which destroyed so many cattle in every county in England three or four years ago. In England, there or four year for Los Angeles. Practical men agree that it would be less expensive to carry an open canal to the sea-board

The Pope and Politics.

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—[To the Editor of The Times.] I see by the European telegraphic news published in your journal for the last few days, several the process of the country, and this in the face of a system of railways that cover the country like a network. Some of the very oldest canals are still in working order and pay. China, Holland, ancient history, even the ancient inhabitants of the American continent, have demonstrated their practices. thent, have demonstrated their practical utility to the progress of nations, and the people of Los Angeles have a vast experience of the past to guide them in their choice; they have the wealth necessary for its successful completion; they have also the grit and tact required for any scheme of this nature, and I believe that they have the welfare and prosperity of this magnificent city at heart. Our engineers are capable of placing before them a water scheme for their acceptance which will not only supply a profitable investment, but also give to the citizens for all time a system of sewerage which will make Los Angeles the finest, healthiest and most complete city of modern times. A Mess of Democratic "Potash." Los Angeles, May 1.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The Herald the other day gave prominence to a state-ment in its leading columns which is so glaringly misleading as to demand denial. In its wriggling efforts to secure Democratic support from the masses it is wildly grasping at any straw that comes across its drowning career, and is assuring the masses of the working is assuring the masses of the working people if they will only let foreign raw material and manufactured goods come into America and supplant the homemade articles, poverty and even death itself will disappear. To take away employment, reduce wages, throw land out of cultivation, leave our limitless coal fields and our immense mineral resources undeveloped and unexplored in order to let in foreign competition is the Herald's panacea to secure the welfare and happiness of the American people. It will increase the poor seamstresses' small earnings of New York if you will only let the shirts of London and the shoddy of Manchester come to this country free. Nay, more. The Herald states that 10,000 children die of starvation annually, and the best this country free. Nay, more. The Herald states that 10,000 children die of starvation annually, and the best and most honorable way to put an end to this holocaust of infantile mortality is to accept Cleveland's free-trade policy and vote the Democratic ticket straight! The price paid for making shirts is, unfortunately for the brilliant genius of the Herald, less in free-trade countries than in New York, while the deaths from starvation in free-trade England are greater in London, Liverpool and Manchester than in any other European cities. Again, where do pauperism, prostitution and crime thrive and increase as they do in England? What a programme is thus laid down by the Herald to reduce the surplus revenue of the American people? What a patriotic suggestion to come seriously from the leaders of democracy! No people in the sphere of civilization have the freedom, the wealth and the prosperity that is now enjoyed by Americans. Their means of living and enjoying life are far ahead of the dependency, debt and wretchedness which exist in old countries, and especially England. We trust and know that the intelligence and welfare of the American people will not barter away their privileges and birthright for such a mess of simple porridge as the Herald has in a moment of weakness and imbecility asked them to partake as the best the Democratic of weakness and imbecility asked them to partake as the best the Democratic cook of Los Angeles can devise. The Lay of the Hen. THE LITTLE JOKER.

ORANGE, May 2 .- [To the Editor of THE TIMES. | The catch in the hen problem is in the statement of it.

"If a hen and one-half lay an egg and one-half in a day and one-half" means simply, if a hen lays one egg per day.

Los Angeles, May 2.—[To the Editor of The Times.] One and one-half hens lay one and one-half eggs in one and one-half days; six hens lay six eggs in one and one-half days; six hens lay 24 eggs in seven days.

Los Angeles, May 2.—[To the Editor of The Times.] For the sake of the science of mathematics, please give the correct answer to your problem of the hens and eggs.

If the conditions are to be taken,

If the conditions are to be taken, mathematically, which, of course, must be the case, as any other supposition is obviously absurd, then it follows by analysis: If 1½ hens lay 1½ eggs in any time whatever, then 6 hems, which are equal to 4 times 1½ hens, will lay 4 times as many eggs in the same time, or 6 hens will lay 6 eggs in the given time.

Now, by the conditions of the problem, the 6 eggs will be laid in 1½ days, but it is proposed to make the time 7 days, or 4½ times 1½ days; hence the result must be 4½ times as large, or 4½ times 6 eggs, or 28 eggs.

Relative Prices of Land

A great deal has been written re garding the enormous prices of land in this section. It has been stated that values are entirely beyond the reach of a man of moderate means; and that no crop will begin to pay an interest on investments. Especial attention has been called by the northern papers to the asserted relative cheapness of their lands as compared with ours. Some of these journals, in their franker moments, are willing to admit that our climate and surroundings possess some advantages over the Northern Citrus Belt, but they always fall back on the -to them-clinching argument, that those who want land at a reasonable price must go north. That such an argument is unfounded, when applied to the choicer sections of Northern California, may be seen from the following extract from the Santa Clara Valley, an agricultural journal published in San José:

lished in San José:
Some parcels lying contiguous to the city of San José, or Los Gatos, Gilroy, Santa Clara, the Stanford University, of course bear higher prices than those lying farther out. We know of land lying close to railroad station, some eight or ten miles from San José, grain land, with growing crop, sold for $270 an acre. Other land near by brought higher prices. The same land planted in orchard would bring $400 or more, according to the age of the trees. An José, near a station, has been divided into ten-acre parcels and is offered for $150 per acre. This is not planted to orchard, but there are good orchards near by on the same kind of land and successful vineyards.

There is plenty of good land, near railroad station, within ten miles of Los Angeles, that can be bought for less than $270 an acre. Within 30 miles of Los Angeles, good, naturally moist land, requiring no irrigation, may be purchased at from $100 to $150 per acre. This land will grow two crops a year of corn, barley, potatoes, cabbages or any similar produce and can be made to yield a net annual rev enue of $200 per acre.

All the talk and written statements about land in Southern California being held at $1000 per acre is misleadinggenerally intentionally so. Only land which is ripe for subdivision into town lots is held at such a price. The best citrus lands-and good citrus land is very scarce—can be had for $250 an Similar lying and exaggerated statements have been disseminated broadcast regarding values of city property in Los Angeles. In eastern papers we have frequently seen such statements as that "business property in Los Angeles fetches $5000 a foot," or that it is "held higher than in New York or Chicago." As a fact, the highest price that has been paid for the very choicest business property in Los Angeles is $2000 a front foot, and very few transactions have been made at a higher rate than $1500. Good business property can be bought for $500 a front foot, and good residence lots, within two miles of the postoffice, at from $500 to $1000 for 50-foot lots.

All these various descriptions of property, both agricultural, business and residence, will pay a big-a very big-interest on the investment, when improved. They are therefore cheap.

Moreover, they are relatively cheaper than similar property in choice residence sections of Northern California, to which fact we would respectfully draw the attention of inquiring eastern visitors and envious northern journal-

Wholesale Timber Thieves.

The Secretary of the Interior has transmitted to the House a report of the conspiracy of the California Redwood Company, to obtain the larger part of the fine redwood forests in Humboldt county. It appears that the scheme was a very bold and gigantic one. Faulkner, Bell & Co. and J. Russ & Co., both of San Francisco, sent representative to Scotland and made contract with a syndicate of capitalists there to sell them 500,000 acres of redwood timber land at $7 per acre, payment to be made as fast as deeds were obtained. Under this plan more than 57,000 acres were entered and the title sought to be obtained to perhaps the most valuable tract of timber land in the United States, valued by experts of the conspirators at $11,000,000 and worth probably much more.

Government agents are unable to produce testimony of great importance in the investigation of these frauds because there is no process of law by which witnesses can be compelled to attend and testify in hearings before Congress should lose the land officers. eans, who did not permit them-to be made captives by any this evil. Our timber is disappearing fast enough by the ordinary proc of consumption and by forest fires. What remains should be carefully kept from thieves and rogues, who first steal the timber and then form rings to make consumers pay exorbitant prices for lumber.

WASHINGTON reports state that Sentor Sherman's managers have made a pretty careful canvass in every section of the country, especially of the South, and are pretty well enabled to make an approximation of the strength the Senator is likely to have in the convention on the first ballot. They have figured in all of the States and Territories and make the Senator's approximate strength at this time 312, with 412 votes necessary to a choice. They feel a good deal encouraged over the action taken by the Ohio Republican Convention at Dayton, and are somewhat jubilant at the outlook. It is understood that there will be a conference held in Washington soon of the princi-pal workers for Senator Sherman throughout the country, and that an organization will be formed for the most effective work, such as was conducted in the last campaign for Mr. Blaine. Senator Sherman's friends say they are going into the convention with a following that will stand solidly to their man as long as there is the slightest hope of his nomination, and that he will have by far the greatest strength he has ever had in a convention.

A "COUNT of noses" made by the San Francisco Post classifies the California delegation to Chicago as follows: For Stanford, 4; against Stanford, 5; inde pendent or not committed, 7. This outcome is not what the thick-and-thin Blaine advocates counted upon and claimed in advance, nor is it flattering to Mr. Stanford's adherents, who expected, at the very least, that they would be able to secure a majority of the convention. The outcome is upon the whole more satisfactory than we had expected. The delegates are free to go into the National Convention and cast their votes in a practical and etfective manner, instead of throwing them away on candidates who are not in the race, or who cannot be nominated or elected. Mr. Blaine is not in the race, and Mr. Stanford can neither be nominated nor elected. 'Tis well.

A SPECIAL to THE TIMES concerning the popular sentiment in San Francisco relative to the action of the Republican State Convention intimates that while the general feeling is one of general satisfaction over the results attained, there is some disappointment on the part of the friends of different Presidental aspirants because so little was said about their respective favorites in the discussions. The proceedings of the convention seem to indicate that neither the Stanford men nor the Blaine people dared to pass resolutions of direct and unqualified indorsement of their favorites for the Presidency, while both factions wanted things so shaped as to leave the impression on the State that their man was in fact ahead.

THERE are three important things which no well-regulated political convention should fail to do. These things

1. View with alarm.

2. Hail with pleasure. 3. Point with pride.

While the Sacramento convention faithfully "viewed" and "hailed," we note with alarm that they failed to 'point." Why this lack of pride? Was the convention short on pointers?

WHILE a California county is introducing bull-fighting, the Legislatures of several Mexican States are prepar-ing laws for the abolition of both that and cock-fighting.

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE OPERA-HOUSE.—The third night of A Parlor Match showed no diminuition in the size or the hilarity of the audience

Mr. William Hoey's presentation of "Old Hoss" is, in its way, artistically conceived and carried out with a finish and attention to detail that would distinguish a far higher part. With every opportunity for buffoonery, part. With every opportunity for buffoonery, he avoids it entirely, and gives the picture of the simon-pure American tramp, in its best and truest aspect; a fellow who hath had losses, but full of philosophy and humor, and with a spark of manhood left for these who know where to find it. Could the ordinary tramps commence to play with such fiendish skill upon the uncanny clarionet as does "Old Hoss," they might forever roll in clover.

A Parlor Match tonight.

Next week Mrs. Langtry returns for a week, accompanied by Mr. Coghian, in a dramatization of that vuigar and stupid novel, "As in a Looking Glass." The book has, however, some dramatic possibilities, and report has it that the play is especially successful.

This will go down and join the main line, but on which side of Lake Tulare has not yet been determined. We do not know that the Santa Fé is back of the other line in the San Joaquin. It is my judgment that the gentlemen are building the line independently, hoping to sell it out when done. We are going to build down the foothilis from Oakdale to Sumner, and the line from Visalia will form part of the same branch. We are at work now building 20 miles west from Huron, and possibly some day a connection will be made from there with the end of the line in San Benito county."

The Stanford men are dissatisfied. They well may be. The Blaine men are hopeful, while the friends of other prominent candidates are asking why their favorites were not recognized to some extent instead of being utterly ignored. Hartforn (Ct.) May 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The Democratic State Convention was called to order at 10:45 this morning. Col. Charles M. Joselyn was elected chairman. Joselyn, on taking the chair, paid a high tribute to the President. Three years of his administration," he said, "have passed, and the universal ver-dict of the people is that the administration never had a superior. Firm as Jackson and pure as Jefferson, he has proved himself a true and faithful Democrat. As the result of the coming convention at St. Louis, the party will again march to overwhelming victory under the lead of this favorite son— Grover Cleveland.

Alfred E. Burr, James T. Piggott, Charles M. Allen and William H. Barnum were thosen delegates-at-large. District dele-gates were elected as follows: First District, Congressman Vance and George L. Phillips; Second District, Charles A. Tom-linson and Clinton B. Davis; Third District, S. O. Bowen and Alexander C. Rob-ertson; Fourth District, Milo P. Richardson and Henry A. Bishop.

The platform reaffirms the Democratic National platform of 1884, demands read-justment of the tariff laws, calls on Con-gress to revise the internal revenue laws in regard to tobacco, views with pleasure the prospect of the reelection of Grover Cleve-land, indorses his administration, and instructs the delegates to vote and labor for his renomination. With three cheers for Cleveland the convention adjourned.

Chairman Griffin in his opening address chairman Grimi in his opening address said that the only way in which the movement can be successful is to have the help of others that are not now in the movement. "Seventy-five per cent. of the Republicans," he continued, "are opposed to salcons and consider it a paramount question; 15 per cent. is more for political movements than the salcon question, and only 10 per cent. avors the salcons. Only half of 1 per cent. of the Republican party are in the liquor fusiness, and we hope that by the action of the next National Convention this element will be eliminated from that business."

Letters of regret were read from Joseph R. Hawley, William M. Evarts, John Sherman and William Windom.

Mr. Griffin introduced Gen. Thomas A. Morgan of Rhode Island as temporary chairman. Gen. Morgan made an eloquent appeal to the young men of the country to join in the work of driving the influence of salcons from politics. said that the only way in which the

Gen. Stewart L. Woodford then welcomed the conference in a brief speech. He said that if he had the power he would stop the sale of ilquor altogether. "I know," said he, "that over three-fourths of the people of New York city drink liquor. There are not Federal bayonets enough in this country to enforce the proscription of liquor. Let us, then, go to Chicago, declare our opinions and work for our candidate."

Senator John Sherma, in his letter of regret says: "I certainly would support all reasonable measures tending to restrain the evils that flow confessedly from the sale of liquor in saloons. The remedy depends so much on the state of public opinion in the community in which the law is to operate that no rule of prohibition or even regulation can be successfully enforced in all places alike."

The members of the National Committee so far named are: Hon. E. S. Page of Vermont and Gen. A. B. Nettleton of Minnesota.

At the opening of the afternoon session the following telegram was sent to the Republican State Convention at Springfield, Ill., and to the conventions of Republican clubs at DesMoines and Indianapolis:

"The National Anti-saloon Republicans in convention assembled in New York city telegraph you cordial greeting with a keynote: The saloon must be destroyed."

Elijah A. Morse of Massachusetts was then introduced. He sald, among other things, that in 1884 a crime was committed by the Prohibition party, not knowingly, however, in defeating James G. Blaine. Ex-Gov. Sidney Perhan of Maine was made permanent chairman. The following delegates-at-large were elected: Col. G. R. Davis, Horace S. Clark, Senator C. B. Farwell and W. F. Hadley; alternates, J. H. Lott, Peyton Roberts, H. G. Judson and L. S. Wilcox.

For Secretary of State I. N. Pearson was nominated; for State Treasurer, Charles Beeker.

The platform opens with a declaration that the party deems it unnecessary, on the eve of the National Convention, to make an extended declaration of principles, more than to reaffirm those laid down in the national platform of 1884, and to express the conviction that public interests would be greatly promoted by a change of administration. It then arraigns the Democratic administration for failure to carry out the pledges made in the platform in 1884. It denounces the civil service acts of the President and denounces the Democratic party, which, while professing attachment to State sovereignty and home rule, denies both to American citizens of Dakota, for fear that the votes of that body of people might be cast for Republican candidates at the coming election. It refers to the fact that a President who committed himself to the one-term principle is now using federal patronage to secure a relection. It says that the Democratic party professes love for Union soldiers and saliors, but its continued policy has been to refuse relief to the suffering defenders of the Nation and their suffering dependents. Underhand Politics of tee Southern Pacific.

The San Francisco Post is after the Southern Pacific Railroad Company of Kentucky with a sharp stick. In one of its last issues it says:

"If the Southern Pacific management are not exactly successful in bringing their trains in on time, it cannot be said that they do not try every means to hide that fact from the public. The Southern Pacific, however, is not uniformly successful in its endeavors to hoodwink a confiding public. Last Tuesday they audaciously bulletined their Southern Pacific overland on time. Now the time which the Southern Pacific overland on time. Now the time which the Southern Pacific overland did not get in till past midnight. This, however, is not the full extent of the Southern Pacific joke. The train which they bulletined as a Southern Pacific overland was not an overland train at all, but was made up in Los Angeles. Even with this miserable subterfuge the Southern Pacific could not succeed in getting the train in on time. However, when the Southern Pacific manages to get in a train three or four hours late, the officials congratulate each other upon their successful train management. This would never have leaked out but for the fact that this alleged Southern Pacific overland brought a railroad man into San Francisco, and he was so amused at the Southern Pacific's gentle way of imposing upon the San Francisco public that he did not hesitate to speak about it as a good joke. The Southern Pacific seems quite to overlook the fact that when they willfully bulletin a train as coming from New Orleans via El Paso, when they know that it has not brought a passenger south of Los Angeles, it is telling an untruth, and, furthermore, that it puts a great many people to great inconvenience. The gentleman who furnished this information said that quite a number of people were down at the ferries that night expecting the arrival of some friends from El Paso, and that they were considerable mystified as to the reason of their not arriving. The Southern Pacific would be doing the public a favor if they a

THE DESPISED CACTUS.

the Plant May Be Used for

[San Diego Sun.] Some experiments, which are of deepest interest in this section of the country, have recently been made with the cactus, and these experiments have shown that no plant contains greater nutrition or food value than this plant, which has been and still generally is so thoroughly despiated by our furness. thoroughly despised by our farmers. The pulp, as all who have an acquaintance with the cactus well know, is filled with a heavy glutinous juice, containing much starch and some sugar. Experiments made show that in nutri-ment the cactus is fully equal to the turnip, which, as is well known, is a favorite stock feed in England, where agriculture has reached a higher state of perfection than in any other country in the world. The work of investigating this subject has been in hand at the Berkeley Experiment Station during the last few weeks, but the latest report on the matter comes in a letter from a Texas stockman, who tells his experiments in matter comes in a letter from a Texas stockman, who tells his experience in feeding cactus pads: He says necessity drove him to his first experiment. He had been feeding cotton-seed, but the supply run short and he was compelled to secure a substitute. He adopted the fleshy leaves of the cactus as the substitute, and found it entirely satisfactory. His plan was to burn off the thorns and chop the plant into fine feed. Either plain for mixed with a small proportion of ground feed, such as bran or barley, the cattle ate it eagerly. He adds the information that in Mexico the cactus has for generations been fed to cattle, sheep and goats. Machines are now in use in some parts of Texas for crushing the plants into pulp and for burning off the thorns. the thorns.

To us this seems to be an important

To us this seems to be an important discovery. The cactus must be recognized as the native plant of the desert. It will thrive there on the hardest, driest and rockiest soil. A little rain or no rain at all appears to satisfy it equally well. It is easily propagated. A single leaf put into the ground this year becomes a lusty plant of 12 to 20 pounds' weight next year. Its thorns make it in its natural state an object to be shunned by man and beast, but let it be established, as it now seems to have been established, that it conto have been established that it contaids nutritive qualities of value, and mechanical appliances will soon be in-vented to rob it of its thorny terrors. In fact, cultivation alone will 'soon dispose of that difficulty, for as the forms of other plants have been changed by selection and cultivation, so can the thorns be cultivated out of the cactus.

thorns be cultivated out of the cactus. The use of the cactus as a forage crop would be no more wonderful as an innovation than was the discovery of the value and the adoption of cotton seed as feed. During all that period before the war, when cotton was recognized as king, and millions of acres were devoted to its cultivation, the seed was accounted as useless. Sometimes some of the planters would go to the trouble of putting it back upon the soil, as there was a vague idea that it possessed more or less value as a fertilizer. there was a vague idea that it possessed more or less value as a fertilizer. But it was accounted as generally useless, and was despised because it was troublesome to extract it from the bolls. The hope was that in time a variety of cotton could be raised, which would be seedless, or nearly seedless. All this is changed now, however. The seeds are not now thrown away. They are saved with the greatest care. In fact, the seed is reckoned at from 20 to 25 per cent. of the total value of the crop, and millions of dollars have been realized from its sale annually. Its use came as a revelation to the people of the cotton States. Who shall say that the despised cactus may not be the subject of an equal revelation to the people of the Southwest?

PASADENA, May 2.—[Specially Reported for The Times.] That is a very amusing passage in this morning's letter to THE TIMES from "A Lover of the Truth," in which he declares that Pasadena is jealous of Lamanda Park by reason of the latter's great and varied and altogether superior attractions in the way of soil, climate, rail-road advantages, etc. Very amusing.

The devoted friend of truth seems himself to suspect that it would have a slightly facetious appearance in print, for before he concludes the letter he confesses that Lamanda Park has not been appreciated, notwithstanding her dazzling charms. This he attributes to the lack of enterprise in the citizens of that burg. Our correspondent in the service of Truth with a large T may have the most intense affection imaginable for that virtue, but he will not be credited with serving her with judgment if he makes such ludicrous statements as that Pasadena is jealous of Lamanda Park. The unquestioned fact is, neither the people of Lamanda Park nor Pasadena; in any great numbers, want to take the first-named section into the family circle of this municipality, and the reasons therefor tion into the family circle of this municipality, and the reasons therefor

He failed to materialize at that will be a serious product of the serious seri Hoag, livery men, ostensibly to go to Garvanza. He failed to materialize at that village, however, nor did he or the horse and vehicle show up at the proper time at the livery stable. In the course of a few days it became apparent that the man had stolen the outfit and gone to parts unknown. Measures were taken to find the property. The return of the thief was a secondary, though important, consideration. No success was achieved, however, except as to the buggy. That was found a week after the theft at the Yocum ranch, across the arroyo, where it had been left by a man, who said he would call for it. Not until today have Vore & Hoag been able to obtain the least trace of the horse. This morning the son of a yeast merchant at Los Angeles drove right into the jaws of death—death to his bellief that his father was the lawful owner of the borse he had just ridden behind from his home in so comfortable a manner. In other words, he drove Vore & Hoag's stable, with the laudable purpose of feeding and properly caring for him, the while he himself did some necessary business about town. It was unmistakably the same animal, sound and well. Upon inquiry it was found that the yeast vender had animal, sound and well. Upon inquiry it was found that the yeast vender had animal, sound and well. Upon inquiry it was found that the yeast vender had bought the property in horse-flesh shortly after the date of its larceny, and that he supposed himself to be the only owner thereof. After explanations, he left for Los Angeles with Mr. Vore, believing he could recover the harness, and that he could also find the man of whom he bought the horse. They are at this writing in your city, on the abovenamed errand, and it is hoped they will succeed. It is scarcely necessary to remark that the horse remains in his old quarters here, and that Vore & Hang considers themselves extremely fortunate in so easily and strangely coming again into possession of him. As for the unlucky purchaser, he has the sympathy of all parties, especially the rightful owners. He takes the affair with as much equanimity as could be expected.

BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
Los Angeles, Wednesday, May 2.
There is very little change in the general local markets. Poultry is very scarce and in good demand, the market being strong, with indications of a decided advance. Flour is in good demand; prices firm and advancing, Patent Roller being now quoted at 44.55, an advance of 15 cents. Capital Mills and Pioneer are listed from 10 cents to 15 cents higher. All in good demand. Barley is strong, with an upward tend-ency, prices ranging 10 cents to 15 cents

Potatoes, both old and new, are short in the market and few offered, new being quoted at $1.25 to $1.50, and the supply limited.

NEW YORK, May 2—The stock market was weaker today than at any time since the rise began, and, after all, reaction was the result of the day's operations. There was free selling on the part of foreigners early in the day, the reduction of the rate of dividend of the Pennsylvania and the unfavorable properties. Pennsylvania and the unfavorable report just passed by the Louisville and Nashville creatpassed by the Louisville and Nashville creating, a revulsion of feeling at that center on American stocks. There was, however, also great pressure from local bears and traders, with considerable realizations from bulls, some of whom think, however, that a more permament advance will follow the reaction. In the last hour there was some reaction from the lowest figures, but the market was feverish and unsettled, and so closed, with a moderately active business.

with interest and attorney's fees.

Officer Waiter Auble, who has been on the detective force ever since it was organized, yesterday asked to be relieved and placed on a beat, which was granted. Mr.
Auble is one of the most efficient officers on the force, and has done a vast amount of good work both as a regular officer and as a detective, and not one word has ever been said against him. The only reason for the change are the shorter hours on a regular beat.

Her trial will come up this morning before Justice Austin.

The west hound freight train of the Atchi-

Despite the heavy traffic a large freight train came through from Nebraska City to Los Angeles in six days. Yesterday a barley train consisting of 44 cars left the depot for Denver, this being the first grain train this year. It has been stated that it is cheaper for the consumers of wheat in Colorado to purchase grain in Southern California and have it shipped to Denver than raise the grain in that section of the Union. A special orange train also left yesterday for the East over the Southern Pacific Company's line.

The First Anniversary of the Institu-tion.

The first anniversary of the Young Men's ing by an entertainment and social, given in the Turnverein Hall, in which all those interested in the prosperity of the insti-tute participated.

Since the institute was first organized Since the institute was first organized, one year ago, the increase of membership and general presperity of the organization has been to quote the words of the president, prodigious, and more than the most sanguine anticipated. Being the only secret fraternal organization on which the ban of the Catholic Church does not lie, it satisfies the same desires as other secret organizations, without rendering a member liable to censure or penalty from the church.

liable to censure or penalty from the church.

Although the hall last evening was not filled, yet a large audience gathered to enjoy the very excellent programme that had been arranged. Being varied in form, almost every faste had been catered to, and the short addresses with which the programme was interspersed gave food for thought to the very many who had a direct interest in the prosperity of the institute.

The following is a programme of the literary exercises, not including the numerous encores, which were persistently demanded:

A BURGLAR.

He Faces a Shotgur and Makes Good His Escape. A burglar tried to effect an entrance into the residence of John Clauslor, No. 1100 the residence of John Clauslor, No. 1100
West Sixth street, early yesterday mogning. The robber was heard as he was foreing an entrance, and Mr. Clauslor immediately arose and greeted the intruder with a double-barreled shotgun and a revolver. As the thief's lantern threw its rays on Clauslor's artillery he changed his inind about burglarizing the premises and began a retreat with all possible speed. As the would-be burglar retired Clauslor discharged the gun in the air, as an intimation of what such gentry may expect on a similar attempt at burglary being made in the future.

The Turf Club Closed.
The Turf Club Saloon on Spring street, near Temple, was closed yesterday on two attachments—one of H. J. Woollacott for 757.85, and the other by Frank J. Carpenter for $475. Mr. Woollacott's claim is for 557.85, balance due for goods furnished, and $500 borrowed money, and Mr. Carpen-ter's is for goods furnished by the late firm or Davis & Co., tobacco dealers. The place was established some three years ago, and has always been supposed to be a paying concern. F. P. Clemence, the proprietor, was out of town when the attachments were levied, and says that he had no idea that there was any intention on the part of his creditors to close down on him, as he had given them ample security for all he owed. Thirty cents in cash was tound in the drawer, and a small stock of liquors, when the Sheriff took possession.

An Old Editor.

A complaint was filed yesterday in the superior Court by Mrs. Jessie E. Waite in a suit against R. P. Waite, administrator of the estate of D. M. Berry, deceased; Flora the estate of D. M. Berry, deceased; Flora and Sadie Berry, the minor children of A. F. Berry, deceased, and Francisco Berry, née Rubis, their mother. The plaintifi si the daughter of the late D. M. Berry, for several years city editor of the Los Angeles Herald, and R. P. Walte, one of the defendants, is her husband. The property left by deceased, as appraised, is about $6000, and several contracts for the purchase of real estate, if compiled with, will increase it by a couple of thousand dollars. The plaintiff claims that the costs and expenses of administration, exclusive of the amounts to be paid on contracts to purchase real estate, will amount to about $800, and that it would be ruinous to sell the property to make such payments. Being desirous to protect the property and the interests of the minor defendants, she wishes an immediate division, being willing that they should be allowed an unincumbered tract in the Crescenta Caffada, valued at $3000, and a note for $133.33, and she taking the balance, binding herself to pay all the debts of the estate. and Sadie Berry, the minor children of A.
